Context & Challenge

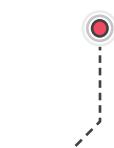

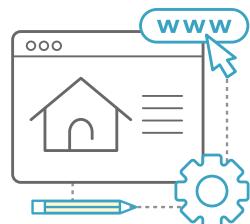

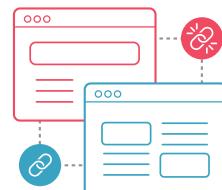

PROJECT BACKGROUND

Louisiana Outdoor Properties and Bonnette Auctions wanted an online presence that connected their two companies together and showed branding relevant to their level of service.

PROBLEM

Louisiana Outdoor Properties and Bonnette Auctions were 2 completely different websites but they wanted them to be connected. There was also no consistency between the two websites that showed the connection or the quality of service that they provide. The websites were not easy to make changes to and in an ever changing real estate and auction world - this was a necessity!

PROJECT GOALS & OBJECTIVES

The primary goal of this new website project was to create an online presence for Louisiana Outdoor Properties and Bonnette Auctions that connected the branding while keeping the separate domains along with a very easy to use content management system to make edits quickly.

Process & Insight

OLD WEBSITE

- No connection between the two brands
- Not easy to make changes
- Lack of quality to present the service they provide

We created new branding that connected Louisiana Outdoor Properties & Bonnette Auctions, incorporating new colors, typography, and imagery with easy to use Content Management System that meet all requirements of the new branding.

Solution

Starting with a blank piece of paper, each page of the website was designed using photoshop to clarify the outline of the site. The new website needed a clean, elegant, and purposeful feel to connect two companies in a way that positioned them as the go-to place for any auction or real estate needs. Through several 1 on 1 conversations with the leaders of Bonnette Auctions & Louisiana Outdoor Properties, updates, and changes to those designs led to the final design that is seen on their new website.

There were two different paths that needed to be addressed on this website. One of the paths was to provide all the information needed around auctions from how to get started to seeing what auctions were currently going on and those that were coming soon. The other path to design for is the real estate side. This included a spot to see all the current listings and even those that were sold recently. The design and content for both of these paths determined how the pages were designed.

Maura and the Ugly Mug Marketing team were the best to work with! From the very beginning, everyone was professional, timely, and amazing to work with. Our company started with a vision and Ugly Mug was able to fully execute that. We are so thankful for the hard work and dedication they put into our site.
